“The chief function of color should be to serve expression.”
—Henri Matisse

MISH NEW YORK
Rocks rule in this bold necklace by Mish Tworkowski. The New York-based designer paired 13 pieces of smooth, powder-blue Sleeping Beauty turquoise—one of the rarest varieties in the American Southwest—with a chic 18-karat-gold ring-and-toggle closure. The result is pure earthy elegance. mishnewyork.com ($34,000)

1 POMELLATO
Milanese jewelry house Pomellato takes cocktail rings to new heights with this bold amethyst-and-diamond Rittrato ring. Its violet central stone is framed in warm rose gold and diamonds. pomellato.com ($12,100)

3 SIDNEY GARBER
The best statement rings bloom with equal amounts of vivacity and sophistication. Sidney Garber’s Les Ballons design hits the mark with a gleaming oval-shaped green tourmaline at the center, subtly contrasted against glimmering Cognac diamonds set in 18-karat rose gold. 4 VHERNIER
Unique and unforgettable, Vhernier’s coral-and-rock-crystal scorpion brooch is a surprisingly charming addition to early-spring ensembles. It can be worn to cinch the waist of a wrap dress or pinch a lightweight scarf in place. vhernier.it ($69,500)
